Urges People to Maintain Order.
(Special Cable to The Times-Dispatch.)
Mexico City, October 25.—All the candidates for President and Vice-President, with the exception of Felix Diaz, have signed a manifesto urging the people to maintain order to-morrow, and stating that the candidates will accept the result of the election, no matter what it may be.

If no President should be elected, then the candidates will accept the government as it is.

This virtually acknowledges that there is no hope of being elected, and foreshadows nullification of the election and the continuance in power of Huerta.

Later this afternoon President Huerta said to the International News Service correspondent:

"General Felix Diaz is a free agent and can do as he pleases. Any stories that he is being interfered with in any way are untrue and absurd. He will receive the same protection as all the other candidates at the elections to-morrow. I do not know whether he is here or not, but his movements will be watched, but he will not be interfered with in any way."

Regarding the story that English oil companies are trying to make a deal with Mexico for oil concessions, in return for which they will negotiate a loan and that Sir Lionel Gordon, the British minister, is interested in putting the deal through, President Huerta said:

"I have heard of some such thing, but am not acquainted with the details. You will have to get those from the Department of Fomento which has charge of such matters."

Diaz Invited to Capital.

(Special Cable to The Times-Dispatch.)

Vera Cruz, October 25.—Provisional President Huerta practically ordered General Felix Diaz to proceed to Mexico City to-day.

President Huerta sent to his messenger, Colonel Manuel Vidaurriza, secretary to Minister of War Huanque, Vidaurriza bore a letter, couched in the most friendly terms, requesting Diaz to come to the capital.

Inactive Bowels

Endanger health and you should not allow yourself to become constipated. If you are a regular or occasional sufferer, this condition should be remedied at once by the use of

Warner's Safe Pills

They are superior to other laxatives in that they do not leave the bowels in a more constipated state than at the beginning, are purely vegetable and do not gripe or pain. They correct the torpidity of the liver and should be used whenever necessary to insure a movement of the bowels once or twice a day.

Immediately. The letter said that under the present conditions, Diaz could be of much value to the republic if he were in the capital.

Diaz received Huerta's message at the German Hotel and, after reading the letter, said he would require some time before making his answer. He did not indicate that he would comply with the request, and no attempt was made to arrest him.

El Paso, Tex., October 25.—The city of Monterrey, capital of the State of Coahuila de Zaragoza, and one of the most important strategic points in Mexico, has been captured by the rebels after a ten-day siege.

A terrific fire from machine guns was poured into the city for twenty-four hours, according to the most authentic reports, and many persons were killed and wounded, while damage to the extent of several million dollars has been done.

The rebel force attacking Monterrey was commanded by Pablo Gonzales, and numbered about 2,000. The rebels are reported to have a number of machine guns.

According to the report received here, General Mass and Telles, with their joint forces, were defeated as they hurried to the assistance of Monterrey.

The first skirmish occurred at Monterrey on October 15. The rebels were victorious in this, and the insurgent forces then divided, one body pushing Monterrey from the West and from the East, and one band got into the city by using the line of the Terminal Railway.

At the same time another rebel division, captured San Luisito, a suburb, and controlled one of the main lines into the city.

EATON TELLS HER LIFE STORY

Woman Accused of Killing Husband Chief Witness in Her Own Defense.

CROSS-EXAMINATION MONDAY

Cool and Calm While Relating Events Preceding Death of the Admiral.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

Plymouth, Mass., October 25.—Mrs. Jennie May Eaton to-day became the chief witness in her own defense in her trial for the murder of her husband, Rear-Admiral Joseph G. Eaton. Although on the stand for seven hours, Mrs. Eaton was cool and calm while telling the story of her life and the events preceding the death of her husband. The defendant had not finished her testimony when court adjourned this afternoon, and on Monday she will relate the greatest ordeal of the trial when she is subjected to cross-examination by the counsel for the State.

The prosecution's testimony, including rambling letters written by the defendant and the witness, who alleged Mrs. Eaton was unreasonably jealous and excited, became apparent to-day, when three attorneys employed by the prosecution, observed Mrs. Eaton every moment she was on the witness stand. It now appears that the testimony which did not seem germane was calculated to lead the jury to believe that Mrs. Eaton was insane, if not guilty of the murder charge.

Born in Virginia.

Mrs. Eaton said she was thirty-nine years old, and was born in Alexandria, Va. She attended school in Washington and Georgetown, Va., until she was sixteen years old. She then became a stenographer and worked for the Land Office. She married Daniel Henry Ainsworth in Washington when she was twenty years old, on July 2, 1894. Ainsworth was chief clerk for the Interior Commerce Commission. Her daughter, June, was born the June following her marriage. Mrs. Eaton said she left Ainsworth because he drank to excess and could not hold a position.

"Before I finally left my first husband," said the witness, "he sought me to sell books and we traveled through the West doing this work. Later he returned to the city and I followed him. When we finally separated I entered the George Washington Hospital and became a nurse."

"One of the first cases I had was a nurse to Admiral Eaton's wife, who died at that time. I saw Mrs. Eaton intimated on many occasions. In fact, he was in such a condition that he was unable to attend his wife's funeral. After Mrs. Eaton died I left the home, but later returned as his housekeeper."

The admiral proposed marriage to me several times, but I hadn't accepted. We moved to Hilt, Mass., one summer. The admiral and I were married at the Park Street Church, Brookline. I knew nothing of his financial condition. I only know that he was drinking too much."

Moves to Farm.

"We were living in Brookline then, but the admiral drank so much that I determined to get him away from the city and I bought the farm at Ashinippi, and it was through my efforts we moved there and stocked the place."

"For the first few weeks in the country the admiral was in bad shape, and I was afraid he would die. I succeeded in lessening his drinking by giving him a day, and for nearly two years I doubt if he was ever drunk enough to stagger. But while I was reducing his drinking, the admiral was taking various kinds of medicines, which I later learned were poison. He became so blind he would run into objects. At other times the drugs would affect him so that he would have to lie down for hours."

"I have to tell you a little about the baby, whose name was Earl McQuarrie Hurtz, died. I was bathing in the ocean, and on coming out of the water, I saw the admiral staggering out of the house. He was intoxicated, but under the influence of some drug, I went into the house and found the baby crying. I picked him up, and he became violently ill. I rushed for a doctor, but he died before he could give me $1,000 to save the child. But he died. I soon left the admiral, and with my daughters, June and Dorothy, moved to Weymouth."

"Every day I was away from him the admiral wrote me love letters, telling me how lonely he was and how much he loved me. I was very fond of the admiral, but I was afraid to live in the same house with him."

The letters were then introduced and read to the jury by William A. Morse, chief counsel for Mrs. Eaton.

Under direct examination, Mrs. Eaton testified that she had told Mrs. Bursey, of Washington, that she had a wealthy lover in Chicago, and denied that she knew any man in Chicago. The witness then told of finding what she believed to be a bichloride of mercury tablet in a cup of tea the admiral brought her. She denied the testimony of Ralph Keyes, who testified that she had threatened the admiral. She described the trip to Washington and the birth of June's baby, which she said was properly cared for. Mrs. Eaton will conclude her direct testimony on Monday morning.

ACCEPT CHEAPER RATES

Express Companies Institute Reforms Proposed by Corporation Commission.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
Washington, October 25.—The five principal express companies of the United States to-day notified the Interstate Commerce Commission of their acceptance of cheaper rates and simplified tariffs recently drawn up by the commission.

"This decision on the part of the express companies," said commission officials, "means that all the far-reaching reforms determined by the Interstate Commerce Commission will be instituted throughout the country. It is believed that the operation of the new rules and tariffs will be of inestimable benefit to shippers and carriers alike."

This rosy view of the proposed reforms was not taken by the express companies. In a telegram they stated that they had "grave apprehensions as to the outcome," but had decided to institute the changes nevertheless.

The express companies heard from the Commerce Commission, Southern Railway, United States and Wells-Fargo, The Northern and Great Northern companies have also acceded to the demands of the commission.

HIS FRIEND HAD BRIGHT'S DISEASE

A. B. Edwards, an engineer of Hamlet, N. C., wrote a couple of years ago giving the name of a friend who had Bright's disease but to no means. Said his own name and asked if we would donate the treatment for this unfortunate. We sent $25 worth with our compliments. We had forgotten the matter till the following was received:

"Hamlet, N. C., Feb. 16th, 1913.
John J. Fulton Co.:
Dear Sirs:—I have been waiting to see how the patients were going to hold out after they had stopped using the Compound. As I think two years long enough, and I thought to tell you that the cases of Bright's disease recovered. My wife, pronounced herself two years ago, is well. Mrs. Spencer, who was not expected to live, recovered and the case I requested the ten bottles for yielded and the patient is well. He was given up to die. I will tell people of it as long as I live. Yours truly,
